

French National School of Video Games and Digital Interactive Media

Language Support and French Cultural Immersion

Our International Master's degree, as indicated by its name, has an international outlook and is open to students from all over the world. It has therefore been designed with their needs and expectations in mind.

Students work as part of an international team, replicating real-life situations in the video game industry. In addition to this, Cnam-Enjmin is committed to helping our international learners integrate into French life.

Language classes

Classes, workshops and projects on the International Master's degree are taught entirely in English.

English support classes are available to students who wish to improve and perfect their language level.

Cnam-Enjmin also offers French classes to interested students. These classes are conducted by Alliance française de Bordeaux, a branch of the world-renowned international organisation dedicated to promoting French language and culture.

Introduction to French Culture

As part of their immersion in French culture, students have the opportunity to discover French culture through a one-week trip to Paris.

This programme includes:

- 5 nights' accommodation
- Half-board with breakfast and lunch included. Students are responsible for their own dinners.
- Round trip Angoulême-Paris by train
- A travelcard for the week
- Scheduled programme of activities with tour guide-lecturers

Detailed programme of the week coming soon.

The trip takes place in October during the first semester of the International Master's degree, with the aim that it will create bonds between students right from the beginning of the course.

<https://enjmin-en.cnam.fr/language-support-and-french-cultural-immersion-1510724.kjsp?RH=1732630331228>